

Graham Orme, new chair of EFSG

We are pleased to announce that Graham Orme, International Director, BRE Global, has been elected as chair of The European Fire & Security Group (EFSG).

Graham will be in post for the next 3 years and aims to further develop the group.

Through the EFSG system of agreements, manufacturers outside and inside Europe can achieve certification in various member states based on test results from a single laboratory.

This helps manufacturers of fire and security products to more easily access European and worldwide markets by obtaining multiple quality certification marks on the basis of one set of tests, therefore saving on cost and time.
